When Philadelphia and Ohio call on Gov. Folger to their assistance in crushing the ring, they call on a man who knows how to knock them out from experience.

That old Philadelphian political ring is in sore straits. Senator Foraker, of Ohio, who had promised to help the ring out with several speeches, has wisely decided that he cannot afford to take up the ring's fight—it has too bad a reputation.

The South has warmed up to President Roosevelt in spite of itself. It tried to make itself think that the President was against the South on account of the Booker Washington incident, but it being far from the truth it has been uphill business, and during his recent visit among them they have been compelled to "fess up" and acknowledge that at heart they really like the man.

We give considerable space in this issue to different phases of the corn question. Geo. B. Ellis in the weekly agriculture letter gives some pointers as to the breeding of seed corn. Another article from Macon, Mo., tells what the winner of a $50 corn prize accomplished in four years of corn breeding. Still another article tells of the shrinkage of corn in the crib and gives reasons why it is advisable to sell corn now. These articles are based on what has been done by Missouri farmers, hence what can be done by every Missouri farmer.

A Logical Solution

Many of the officers in the army want the canteen reestablished, on the grounds that it is better than the grogshops that have sprung up to take its place. It has always seemed strange to us that with all of his boasted power Uncle Sam weekly submits to the infamy of these grogshops which infest the region round about army camps. Are the grogshops more powerful than the government that she must meekly submit? If the soldiers are of the kind that must have their whiskey, no matter how they get it, it is about time to apply the remedy advocated by A. S. Lake, of Shenandoah, Iowa. In a letter to Harper's Weekly Mr. Lake says:

"In regard to the canteen question, why cannot the government remove this whole question and at the same time increase the efficiency of our army and remove a stain from its reputation by simply refusing to enlist drinking men and also dropping out all who become addicted to the use of strong drink? Our railroads are rapidly rising to this praiseworthy position, and the thought must come to many of your readers, why not eliminate the whole drinking contingent from our army?"

The King of Crops.

The speakers at the Farmers' Institute last week one and all gave alfalfa the highest place in realm of grasses. It has many advantages over other crops.

First, its luxuriant growth, producing three, four and sometimes five crops in a single season.

Second, its excellent feeding qualities, making a balance of rations with corn that cannot be equaled by any other crop known.

Third, its ability to endure a drought because of the roots reaching far down to moisture.

And last and probably its greatest advantage is its fertilizing properties, reinvigorating the soil with nitrogen which other crops draw out.

This locality is famous for its ability to grow almost everything, yet the impression seems to prevail that it cannot grow alfalfa successfully. The fact that it has been tried on a number of occasions and failed to make good has naturally caused this impression. The supposition is that the character of the subsoil here is such that the roots cannot penetrate to a proper depth, and that fact is responsible for its failure to do well, but the fact that it is a success at other places where the subsoil is similar to ours, would indicate that that was not entirely the trouble.

From the talk at the institute it appears that there are certain conditions to be met in introducing alfalfa into a new country, one of the most important of which is the inoculation of the soil. This is done by mixing soil taken from a field where alfalfa is growing successfully with the seed and sowing both together in the field. Has this ever been done in the experimenting around Jasper? If not this is probably where the trouble lies. Mr. Lewelling said it was a long time before they succeeded in making it grow in Nebraska and that was the trouble. We would like to see the farmers around Jasper try this. We believe with Dr. Waters, Mr. Lewelling and Prof. Schweitzer that alfalfa could be grown around Jasper if the proper conditions were met.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by medical applications as they cannot the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumpling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by an Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammatory condition of the mucous surfaces. We will offer hundred dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

The Awakening of the World

By DR. M. M. MANGARASIAN.
Pastor Independent Religious Society, Chicago.

Even in a politically stationary country like Russia the people have become restless with the sense of an impending change. The breath of the new life has descended upon the Japanese, and all Asia—sleepy, sluggish, semi—waking. A new wave is rolling over humanity, fuller and higher than any that has ever broken upon our earth.

But there is always a period of indecision between the old regime which is expiring and the new of which we only perceive the faint outlines. This intervening period of indecision is most dangerous to the interests of public morality. The partisans of the old political and religious institutions try to prolong this anarchic interval in order to discredit the future and to bring the world back into the bosom of the past.

Momentous influences are slowly effecting a transformation in the moral features of our globe. Consider, for instance, the effect upon European institutions of the divorce between church and state recently accomplished in France. After two years of close partnership the state has divorced the church. The Pope is no more in France and the priest is the next actor who is disappearing from the national stage. The forward movement of the world benefits even those who deplore it. One of the most radical changes which promises to make the future totally different from the past is the change from the worship of God to the service of man.

Doing good and hoping for nothing is the purest passion that can visit the heart of man. But true altruism cannot be practiced toward a God who is not on terms of reciprocity with us and with whom we can only be in the relation of recipients. The servant of God expects to be rewarded and that expectation more or less taints his service. But the man who serves his Master and labors to make the generations of the future live in a clearer world, expecting no personal reward for himself, alone possesses the highest religion. While at times it seems the world is acquiring knowledge without giving up any of the old ones—witness, for example, the recent mortifying disclosures in high financial circles—still, despite these oscillations to the right and to the left, the world on the whole goes ahead. The very fact that the dishonesty of men of trust is dragged into the light inspires confidence in the growing conscience of the race.

The birth in the minds of men of the idea of a world republic will give us no peace until the dream comes true. The service of man will be the universal religion of the future.

The Body as a Temple

By DR. W. A. BARTLETT, Congregational Pastor, Chicago.

lost all pride in body and soul. The spiritual life is a purifier of the body. The very face begins to take on a likeness to God where the mind and heart are given up to holy thoughts. There is an amazing opportunity for athletic trainers and teachers of physical culture to point out to those in their charge how wonderful is the body from this high standpoint of its being the house of God; that it should be kept clean with frequent washings; that it should be kept strong with constant exercise and care. If the body is the Bible claims, a temple of God, then the preparation and the eating of food becomes practically a religious act.
